

A.F.L. Would Bow To Lewis If Merger Goes

Plan to Oppose Gompers is Seen in Proposed Union of Rail and Mine Workers

RAIL LEADERS DENY ASSENT

Combination Would Be Most Powerful Known—Lewis Denies Domination Scheme

By United Press Leased Wire

Indianapolis, Ind. — Possibility of a new trades union movement in the United States—entirely foreign to the American Federation of Labor—was seen Thursday in the proposal of coal miners for an alliance with railroad workers.

Being the two most powerful groups of union labor in the world, they could easily form the nucleus for a new national body.

Significance was attached to the fact that President John L. Lewis of the miners should appeal to the rail men for concerted action in their fight against the open shop and wage reductions, rather than lay his case directly before President Samuel Gompers of the A. F. of L.

It is known the miners in recent conventions have shown marked hostility toward the federation. They have claimed the federation with the federation never helped them in any way and that the federation's policies are not progressive.

HOSTILITY SHOWN

The railroad men have taken the same position in some respects. At the Montreal and Denver conventions of the A. F. of L., the miners and railroaders threw their strength together and defeated some of the policies of Gompers.

Such an alliance would give Lewis a powerful club over nine owners when the wage contract expires March 31. A majority of the operators have declared for lower wages, the miners say they won't accept reductions. Government officials fear a strike and Lewis' proposal opens up new possibilities if an agreement is not reached in the coal industry.

Lewis denied he is seeking to "absorb and dominate" the federation in any view with the United Press Thursday.

"My sole purpose is to protect the men employed in these two great basic industries," Lewis said. "I am not trying to absorb the A. F. of L. but to protect the men who have been compelled to yield some ground."

The same interests are now trying to push the miners backward. The pooling of the collective strength of the railroad men and the miners will constitute an impregnable wall against which the interests who advocate their wage reductions will fruitlessly beat."

Rail Leaders Opposed

Cleveland, Ohio—Sentiment in railroad labor circles Thursday was against the proposed joint session with mine unions to discuss plans for fighting wage reductions by carriers and operators.

That was the opinion of brotherhood chiefs in exclusive statements to the United Press.

"I have not received an invitation and know nothing of this meeting predicted by John Lewis, president of the mine workers," declared Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

John L. Lewis of the teamsters' brotherhood, also denied his organization had been invited by the miners to attend a joint conference.

Another labor leader, an official of the locomotive engineers who did not want his name divulged, declared the brotherhoods do not want war and would join the miners' fight.

"The brotherhoods have enough on their hands now without helping the battles of others."

MERGER SEEMS NEAR

Chicago—Formation of miners and railroaders into a "definite" alliance was "practically" decided Thursday.

Officials of the sixteen standard unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor were consulted by D. W. Holt, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Signalmen. Holt was one of the first to come out in favor of a conference between rail workers and miners, as suggested by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Holt Thursday said Lewis had sent out a "telegram" to railroad unions before he issued his formal statement and that it was certain in his mind that executives of the sixteen unions and the mine officials would get together.

Bert M. Jewel, president of the organization composed of the sixteen unions, had no comment to make. He stated he was studying Lewis' proposal.

5 BLACKS HOLD UP 16; GET SALOON MAN'S CASH

Chicago—Five negroes Thursday held up John Fleischman and 15 customers in his saloon on the south side and escaped with over $2,000 loot.

Fleischman had just returned from the bank with $2,000 currency to use Thursday in cash checks for working plant employees when the bandits entered the place.

They escaped in an automobile.

CRASH VICTIM

E. H. SHAUGHNESSY

Shaughnessy Is Dead; Wife And Child May Live

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington — Second Assistant Postmaster General E. H. Shaughnessy died early Thursday at Walter Reed hospital a victim of the Knickerbocker theatre disaster.

Shaughnessy had made a game fight with death but his injuries proved too severe. Blood transfusions, taken from sturdy young soldiers, had made him rally for a time but the fracture of the pelvis was so critical a condition that the sacrifices were vain.

In another hospital Shaughnessy's wife and his daughter are slowly recovering from severe injuries they received in the disaster.

Dr. Hubert Work, first assistant postmaster general, who is a physician, worked for hours trying to save Shaughnessy. Work rushed here from Denver when he learned of Shaughnessy's severe injuries.

Work was received early Thursday morning by Mrs. John Lowe of the death of Col. Shaughnessy who was her cousin, who was injured in the theater disaster in Washington. Later word was received by her that burial will be made in Arlington cemetery on Saturday.

BLIZZARD TIES UP WHOLE NORTHWEST

Rail Traffic and Wires Are Affected by All-night Storm and Snow

By United Press Leased Wire

St. Paul—The ground here was buried in swirling snow Thursday. A blizzard out of the northwest raged all night following a day of alternate rain and snow Wednesday.

Snow driven by a cold wind continued Thursday.

Huge drifts were piled up, but all railroads running into the Twin cities reported no serious delays. Coast trains were reported as much as 3 hours and 40 minutes late. Some Chicago trains were more than an hour late.

Telephone and telegraph companies worked against heavy odds trying to repair damage done by ice and snow on wires Wednesday. Rain nearly all night Tuesday and nearly all day Wednesday turned into ice and ruts Thursday night.

Barometrists throughout this section fell almost to the bottom of the gauge late Wednesday. The storm came out of the Dakotas and swept southwards.

Agonomists said the sudden freeze with so much water on the surface probably would damage winter crops in the ground. Severe damage to trees and shrubs also was feared. Ice completely entering the ground will prevent "soak breathing" they said.

"In eleven years, a month and a day, it will be: Three, three, thirty-three."

"In a hundred years it will be 2-2-2022."

HOLD CLOSING PEACE PARLEY ON SATURDAY

Treaty Signing Ceremonies Will Be Carried Out Monday by Delegates

INCLUDE 2 MORE NATIONS

Far East Matters Are Only Problems Left for Arms Conference to Consider

Washington — The final plenary session of the Washington conference is planned for Saturday.

Following that on Monday with solemn ceremony at the state department, the conference delegates will attach their signatures to the various treaties arising from the parley—treaties to bring peace in the Far East and to lay the ground work for general world peace.

An enlargement of the scope of the four-power Pacific treaty came to light Thursday when it was stated that notes are being exchanged between the four powers' representatives with the Portuguese and Dutch, stating in substance that for all practical purposes their countries are included in the treaty.

The 21 demands were to be disposed of at Thursday afternoon's session of the Far Eastern committee.

The Far Eastern treaties are ready. It had been previously stated that there would be two such treaties but it was said Thursday by the British spokesman that three documents will be drawn. The first will embody the respect for "open door" and Root principles on "open door" and the second will deal with Chinese customs; and the third will embody the Root resolution against special privileges and spheres of influence in China.

Arthur J. Balfour plans to sail Tuesday with most of the British delegation, the Italian delegation is planning to go Friday and the French delegates are likely to embark even before that.

GREEN BAY PAPER MILLS IN MERGER

$3,000,000 Company is Formed to Take Over Two Big Plants

Special to The Post-Crescent

Green Bay—A papermill merger involving approximately $3,000,000 which combines the Green Bay Paper and Fibre Co. and the John Hoberg Paper Co. was completed here Thursday. The new corporation will be known as the Hoberg Paper and Fibre Co. It will have a capacity of about 200 tons of paper chemical and manufactured pulp and paper products a day.

Officers of the new company are Frank H. Hoberg, president, Thomas J. Doe, vice president, George D. Nau, treasurer, John Welsh, secretary, and general manager. The new company employs between 650 and 700 workers.

It was announced that the group which had acquired the properties is planning an expansion which probably will include a paper bag factory, bleaching plant and larger power facilities.

Many of the old stockholders, including the Hoberg family, have taken a heavy interest in the new corporation.

ALL GERMANY IS TIED UP BY RAIL WALKOUT

Wirth Government is Organizing Emergency Service — Strike is Orderly

Berlin—A great general rail strike, spreading over the entire country was in effect on all German railway lines Thursday.

The walkout, which was timed for midnight Wednesday night, Thursday was effective throughout Germany. The strikers have been orderly every where, according to reports.

The Wirth government is preparing and organizing an emergency service. Engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen were among the categories called out by a narrow vote of the leaders, given out as 20 to 15.

Chicago Man Buys Appleton Theatre

Appleton theater, the city's biggest playhouse, was sold Wednesday afternoon by John Conway and J. A. Hawes, the only stockholders in the theater company, to W. F. Fisher of Chicago who will take possession on Monday, Feb. 6. The purchase price was not made public.

Mr. Fisher is one of the best known theater men in the middle west. It is understood he is planning to make the local playhouse one of the most popular in this section. He now owns theaters in Madison Wis., La Salle and Kewanee, Ill., and is interested in several other cities. His offices are in the North American building in Chicago.

No announcement has been made by the new owner concerning the management of the playhouse here. Appleton theater was built about 21 years ago by a stock company and when it was new it was considered the finest playhouse in the middle west. Every appliance modern at that time was included. It was opened Feb. 7, 1902 with the then popular play of "Nathan Hale" in which Howard Kyle, youthful actor, was starred. The theater opening was the social event of the Fox river valley. The crowd probably was the largest ever in the playhouse.

Mr. Conway and Mr. Hawes were only two of the original stockholders, remaining in the company. All the others had disposed of their holdings to Mr. Conway.

The theater never returned a dividend until about two or three years ago and it is said the owners lost heavily for many years.

The new owner is expected to announce his plans here within the next day or two.

MOVIE MAN IS SLAIN AFTER NORMAND CALL

Assassin Shoots William D. Taylor in Back at His California Home

By United Press Leased Wire

Los Angeles—Mabel Normand, film comedienne, was in consultation with William D. Taylor, motion picture director, who was shot to death here during the night, a few hours before Taylor met his death, neighbors told detectives investigating the tragedy Thursday.

Taylor accompanied Miss Normand to her machine, which was parked at the curb, the witnesses said. Miss Normand and Taylor had been chatting about production of a future photoplay. Harry Peasey, Taylor's negro valet, told detectives he slipped into house.

Police believe that when Taylor accompanied Miss Normand to her machine, his murderer slipped into the house and appeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacLean, motion picture stars, who live next door to Taylor, said they heard a shot fired at about 8:30 Wednesday night.

Mrs. MacLean said she opened the door and saw a man leaving Taylor's residence. She could furnish no description of him.

Mrs. C. F. Reddick, who lives across a court from the Taylor home, said she heard three shots fired at 2 a. m. Thursday.

Evidence could be found of only one bullet—the one that killed Taylor—having been fired into the room where the tragedy occurred, however. This bullet entered his left side immediately below the heart. Death was caused by a resultant hemorrhage.

ITALIAN CABINET QUILTS; DISAGREED ON PAPAL POLICY

Downfall Follows Series of Internal Differences With Election as Climax

By United Press Leased Wire

Rome — The Italian cabinet, headed by Premier Bonomi, has "decided to resign," it was announced Thursday. The resignation was presented Thursday afternoon.

The cabinet which was formed June 4, 1921, has been in constant difficulties chiefly concerning domestic affairs, for several months.

Difficulties with the freest and with the popular party which is interested in the election of the pope, a matter in which the Bonomi government refused to interfere, helped bring about a state of affairs in which the cabinet might fall.

As a result of the cabinet's decision to resign, commemorative services for Pope Benedict XV planned for the chamber, have been called off.

HEY KIDS! LISTEN TO THIS!

Listen Kids, I know how I am going to make some money. I am going to buy a wheel. Mother has some old furniture stored in the attic. I'm going to ask her if I may have it to sell. Lots of people need furniture and they can't afford new. Those people, read Post-Crescent Want Ads every night and when they see something offered for sale they buy it. I've noticed that Furniture For Sale Ads never appear over two or three nights. Want Ads only cost a little and after I've sold the furniture I'll have a neat sum toward my bike. Why don't you try it too? Your mother has some furniture she doesn't want. I'll bet she'd be glad to get rid of it.

24 Miners Are Killed In Eastern Gas Blast

Government Force Assists in Rescue Work Following Violent Explosion

MOST MINERS WERE AWAY Women and Children Crowd About Shaft Opening to Identify Bodies

By United Press Leased Wire

Brownsville, Pa.—Twenty-four men were killed in a gas explosion at the Gates, Pa. mine of the H. C. Frick Coke company near here early Thursday.

Sixteen have been brought to the surface. Authoritative reports said 23 were in the mine at the time of the explosion. The explosion occurred about a mile from the main entrance which is located 23 miles from here.

The dead were removed to a morgue in Masontown.

The workings 250 feet underground, are a good distance from the two main shafts of the mine and the fact that neither entrance was damaged led searchers for the United States bureau of mines to believe that the explosion was near the center of the mine.

In normal times 1,000 men are employed but Thursday when the explosion occurred, officials estimated that about 30 men were in the mine, the regular day force not having reported for duty.

A relief train from Brownsville, 15 miles from Gates, was on hand to render first aid when the imprisoned men are liberated.

The rescue car of the United States bureau of mines was rushed to the scene. Doctors and nurses armed with medical supplies and blankets were sent from Senator Kenyon.

A large crowd of women and children, families of mine workers, gathered about the mines, ready to identify bodies of husbands and relatives.

WAS "GAS MINE"

Scottsdale, Pa.—Officials of the H. C. Frick Coke company here Thursday said that only 21 miners were in their Gates mine when an explosion occurred there early Thursday. Their information was that five were known to be dead.

The workings at Gates were known as a "gas" mine. It was said but they had no definite information as to the cause of the disaster.

BADGER FARMERS WANT HOWARD TO KEEP BUREAU JOB

Resolution Scores LaFollette's Attack on Possible Successor to Kenyon

By United Press Leased Wire

Madison—J. R. Howard, announced as probable appointee to the United States senate seat vacated by the resignation of Senator Kenyon, was urged to decline the appointment Thursday by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation.

"You can do more good for the farmers by staying at the head of the National Farm Bureau federation," was the substance of a resolution of Howard and other farm leaders at a conference in December of railroad officials and representatives of other large freight shippers.

Another resolution adopted by the meeting exhorted Howard on charges of lack of integrity to the farmers' interests, made by Senator LaFollette and an agriculture publication in connection with the presence of Howard and other farm leaders at a conference in December of railroad officials and representatives of other large freight shippers.

U. S. TRIES TO SOLVE CUBAN SUGAR CRISIS

Harding Tries to Find Way of Marketing Huge Surplus Without Price Raise

By David Lawrence

Washington — President Harding is trying to work out a compromise between the various sugar producing interests of the United States and Cuba whereby the price of sugar to the consumer shall never again go to the heights that were reached during the war.

The president is constantly discussing the problem with Secretary Hoover, Senator Smoot and agricultural senators on the one hand and the representatives of Cuban producers on the other.

The big question underlying the whole thing is whether the slight increase in the cost of sugar to the consumer which the producers say is inevitable if their industry is to be preserved will cause any dissatisfaction or be politically dangerous this year.

AFTERMATH OF WAR

Back of the sugar problem is the vivid recollection of inordinate prices after the war when the government let go and ceased regulation. The administration knows that few things come closer home than the price of sugar and it therefore wants to work out a compromise that will satisfy the Cuban sugar producers and the farmers and will not rouse the ire of the public as a whole.

All the various interests concerned—both producers and refiners—agree that whatever sugar solution is worked out the price of sugar must go up slightly—possibly four-tenths of a cent a pound—as it now is being sold at less than their cost of production. During the war when the government controlled beet sugar industry through the price fixing board, the American people bought it at a lower rate than did the peoples of other countries.

It was only after the war when the Cuban producers thought there was a worldwide shortage and when the government at Washington declined to purchase the Cuban crop, had it control the American market, that the price went up. It is realized that as long as Cuba furnishes 50 per cent of the sugar consumed by the American public some balance must be preserved between Cuban and American production.

HAD ILLUSIONS

American sugar producers claim that the Cubans extended themselves and really imagined that the high prices of sugar would continue indefinitely. While they were holding for higher prices, something like $00,000 tons came into the United States through the beet and cane sugar.

It was a full duty a pound was paid, the imported sugar found a ready market. This, however, caused the accumulation in Cuba of a surplus of about 1,200,000 tons. It is this surplus carried into the present grinding season in Cuba which is the monkey wrench in the whole structure.

If somehow could wipe out that surplus and leave the Cuban consumer without any loss everybody would be happy and the question of a duty to be imposed in the future wouldn't be complicated.

But so long as the surplus remains the American producers claim they are annoyed and that unless some other solution is found a higher duty than that now existing is necessary to enable the American producer to grow 50 per cent of the amount normally consumed. Of this 50 per cent from Louisiana and Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

The entire administration is agreed that if Cuba will pass a law restricting her production to 2,500,000 tons during the year 1922 this together with the surplus of 500,000 can be absorbed in the existing tariff of $160 per hundred pounds against Cuba. After this is once absorbed normal conditions it is claimed, will be restored and there will be no need for an increase of tariff to $200 per hundred pounds.

PERSONALITY AND MEMORY FACTORS IN SALESMANSHIP

Ben R. Vardaman Thrills 200 Merchants in Address of Two Hours

Personality was one of the features emphasized by Ben R. Vardaman of Chicago, educational director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, in his address on "A Master Salesman" in the vocational school auditorium Wednesday evening.

Mr. Vardaman appeared here under the auspices of the salesmanship lecture course and was heard by 200 merchants and sales people whom he held spellbound for nearly two hours. It was one of the most instructive lectures ever delivered before local business men and their associates.

The speaker advocated the kind of personality that unconsciously makes a person pass up a good looking salesman at the entrance of a store for a plain security one at the rear; the personality that makes you want to return to that store. Appearance, he said, is not personality.

WEARS A SMILE

The value of a smile was also emphasized. You cannot have the right kind of personality in your business if you haven't the right kind of thought in your mind, the speaker said. You cannot make sales in a store if you are not willing with the right spirit of that store. A salesman with a grudge against his employer cannot radiate good cheer. Mr. Vardaman advocated that good cheer be developed with personality.

The development of memory was another feature on which the speaker laid considerable stress: to remember faces and be able to call a person by name. Mr. Vardaman told of a personal experience in buying shirts. He said he went into a small store in a big city to have several shirts made and as he was about to leave he was greeted by Mr. Cobb, the proprietor, a man of small stature, who inquired his name and invited him to call again.

HAD LONG MEMORY

He was so favorably impressed with the store and proprietor that two years later when again in need of shirts he visited the store a second time and was met at the entrance by the proprietor who, in extending him a hearty greeting grasped him by the hand and called him by name. The reason a person does not remember faces and names is because he pays no attention to them, said the speaker.

A master salesman makes use of his eyes in selling goods. People come to him, the speaker said, who cannot see goods. He recalled an instance of buying a hammer. He said he knew nothing about the good or poor qualities of this particular tool and when shown one was informed by the salesman that it was a crackerjack and that he would make no mistake in buying it.

After the clerk had repeated the statement several times Mr. Vardaman visited another store to make his purchase and in explaining the good qualities of the hammer the salesman called attention to the fact that the tool was made of crucible

INSPECT HOSPITAL TO CLASSIFY IT

American College of Surgeons Sends Representatives to Appleton

Three surgeons representing the American College of Surgeons were in Appleton Tuesday making an inspection of St. Elizabeth hospital in order to determine its classification on the basis of efficiency equipment and mode of procedure. The inspectors were Drs. Stephen Blair and Graham of Chicago. It is said they were most favorably impressed with the methods in vogue at the hospital and believe this city will have one of the finest institutions of its kind in the country when the new hospital is built. A report of the findings here probably will be made in a few weeks.

About 600 of the more than 1,000 hospitals in the United States have been inspected and classified by the American College of Surgeons which is doing the work with funds provided by the Carnegie Foundation.

Members of the hospital executive staff met with the inspectors and were guests of the hospital authorities at dinner. Short addresses were given by the three visiting doctors.

steel; that it was well balanced so it would not strike the wrong nail; that the claws came together in such a way that they would grasp even a headless nail; and that the handle was made of second growth hickory. Mr. Vardaman saw instantly it was the hammer he was looking for and purchased it.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre At Once

Gray, hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a beautiful appearance. Your hair is your crown. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Why-eth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy, and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

NOW DO MY WORKWITHEASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N.Y. — "I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like." — Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

Hone-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply really and quickly made. Saves about 5¢.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

KAUKAUNA MAN WINS DISMISSAL OF LIQUOR CASE

Court Decides That Moonshine in Miller's Place Didn't Belong to Him

Charges against Jacob Miller, Kaukauna saloon keeper, of having in toxicating liquor in his possession for the purpose of selling it illegally were dismissed at a preliminary hearing in municipal court Wednesday afternoon when testimony was introduced to show that the specimens of liquor seized by prohibition officers in Miller's saloon Jan. 21, did not belong to him but had been left there by someone in the place at the time of the raid.

Two other saloon keepers, Henry VanAel and Joseph Hendricks, were given a hearing in the forenoon and were bound over for trial on bonds of $500 each. The date of trial has not yet been announced by the court. Mrs. Charles Dietrich and Joseph Derrus, who pleaded guilty at the time of their arraignment three days after the raid, probably will be sentenced this week. The sentence has been deferred pending the outcome of the hearing of the three men who were in court Wednesday.

STATE IS SILENT
No testimony was presented by the state at the afternoon hearing aimed to contradict statements made by witnesses for the defense. Testimony presented by the defense showed that the small wicker basket found behind the bar by State Agent Carl Henning belonged to Miller but that the two empty bottles it contained had been picked up by Miller at the rear of the place the morning before the raid. The defense did not attempt to account for the finding of two pint bottles, of "moonshine" under a newspaper in the window except that both Miller and his bartender denied any knowledge that the bottles were in the place at all.

In dismissing the charge against Miller Judge Spencer declared that to hold a man for trial without conclusive evidence which would convict him before a jury would weaken the law and weaken the cause of prohibition enforcement.

DANGEROUS RUNAWAY ON LITTLE CHUTE-RD.

A runaway which might have resulted more seriously occurred Wednesday on the Little Chute road, when a horse and cutter met a big motor truck at a place where the cleared road was very narrow. Because of the high bank of snow the cutter could not turn out far enough. Fear of being run over caused the horse to jump and overturn the cutter, throwing the driver out. Dragging the overturned and badly twisted sleigh, the horse ran for some distance before it was caught. The lives of others traveling along the road were endangered by the runaway which barely missed upsetting other vehicles which it passed. The unidentified driver declared that if the truck had stopped at the narrow place he could have driven past it safely.

John Mibow, who is employed in Frank Neumann's barbershop was called home to Kimberly Wednesday, by the critical illness of his wife.

Music Memory Contest NO. 12

ANTON RUBENSTEIN
Russian Composer of Middle Nineteenth Century

Anton Rubenstein (1830-1894) was a Russian by birth and the founder of the Russian National Conservatory of Music, yet the majority of his compositions reflect the influence of the Romantic School of Germany, where he was educated. Few of Rubenstein's works are characteristically Russian. The most brilliant pianist of his day, Rubenstein toured Europe and America with dazzling success. His greatest works were for piano, five piano concertos, many quartets for piano and stringed instruments, over one hundred songs, six symphonies, and thirteen operas. His larger works are rarely given, and his fame rests entirely on his piano compositions and a few songs.

MELODY IN F
The Melody in F is the most universally beloved of any of Rubenstein's compositions. It gained its first popularity in America, when it was played here by the great pianist during his tour in 1872-1873. Many verses have been set to this melody for chorus and solo singing. It is a perfect example of poetic thought in the song form.

30 DAYS IN JAIL FOR STILL OWNER

Kaukauna Man's Home is Raided—Find Quantity of Moonshine

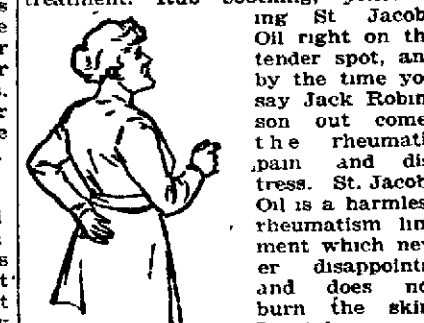

"A still and other appliances intended for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor" found in the home of Frank Wolf of Kaukauna by Prohibition Officer F. B. Laabs about noon Tuesday resulted in the arraignment of Wolf in municipal court. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced Wednesday to 30 days in the workhouse.

A search warrant for Wolf's home was issued upon evidence secured by dry agents. Instead of being secreted in the customary cellar the distilling apparatus in this instance was found on the second floor. The still was of 5 gallon capacity. With it were taken 40 gallons of mash and three gallons and a half of "moonshine."

FARMER MEETING AT HORTONVILLE ATTRACTS 1,500

Modern Farming Methods Are Explained by Speakers and by Motion Pictures

Hortonville—One of the largest gatherings of farmers ever held at Hortonville occurred Tuesday, when approximately 1,500 people attended the meeting conducted under auspices of Otis Bros. garage. The building had been prepared for a large crowd, but so many came that the opera house across the street had to be opened, and this building also was filled. Farmers and their families came from Shiocton, Stephentown, Dale, Medina, Greenville, Ellington, New London and many other points.

A. B. Pease, assistant manager of the Ford Motor Co., Detroit, and Mr. Harrington, Milwaukee, a salesman for the Ford company, spoke on use and care of motors and tractors. G. F. Lynch, a farmer from the southern part of the state, spoke on the "New Era of Farming," telling of modern methods and equipment by which farm work is accomplished more quickly and on a larger scale. The addresses were repeated at the opera house so none of those attending missed any part of the program.

Three reels of moving pictures were shown, featuring the work and possibilities of the farm tractor. Music was furnished by Hortonville band. Prizes valued at more than $200 were given away during the event to holders of numbers distributed at the door.

RENNICKE TEAM LOSES LONG GAME

Muffords Cop Easy Win Over Appleton Bright Spots in Feature Battle

Kaukauna—A free throw and a field goal in the last two minutes of an overtime game defeated Ed Rennicke's Specials in a basketball game with an Appleton team Wednesday evening in the auditorium. The final score was 13 to 10. In the second game Mufford Clothing team copped an easy victory from the Appleton Bright Spots. The score was 44 to 11. The Appleton youngsters lead the scoring from the beginning in the first game and it was not until the last five minutes of the final period that the Specials rallied and tied the count that sent the battle into a five minute overtime period. In that period a free throw for holding put Appleton in the lead and was followed a minute later with a field goal. Appleton garnered five counts in the first half, all of them on free throws, while the Specials shot only one field goal.

Mufford's team, which is fast developing into a strong quint, had easy picking. Their play showed the results of more than two year's organization and careful coaching.

The local basket tossers have unerring eyes as far as shooting is concerned. Very few open tries at the net were missed. The score at the end of the first period was 22 to 7. While the Mufford team was doubling its count in the last period, the visitors were held to two field goals.

One third of your life is allotted to sleep. Do you get your share?

The most important period in the process of applying nutrition to the repair of the body is while you are asleep. For the most favorable transformation of digested food into nerve and cell tissue, so doctors tell us, sleep is absolutely essential.

Is it any wonder that those who suffer from lack of proper sleep are weak, pale and lacking in energy or ambition?

One of the causes of insomnia is nerve-irritation from tea and coffee drinking. Tea and coffee both contain caffeine, which has a tendency to cause undue stimulation. The irritating effect of caffeine often results in insomnia, depression, and a weakened nervous system.

You can easily overcome these troubles by drinking Postum instead of tea or coffee. Postum is a delicious, satisfying cereal beverage, and it is absolutely free from caffeine, or any other harmful substance.

Ask your grocer for Postum. Drink this delicious, refreshing beverage for ten days. Then see if you do not feel better and more clear headed, and if you do not sleep better at night—as so many other people have proved for themselves.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Men And Boys Urged To Send In Candy Recipes

A contest week for men, women and children is what candy week will amount to, according to the number of good candy makers in Appleton. Many men make excellent candy and are proud of the art. In all probability they will be lucky enough to win the prizes. Come on, fellows, show your girls that they cannot take all the candy making honors.

Because of the great number and variety of fudge recipes, the contest editor has divided the contest into fudge and other candies. A dollar prize will be given for the best recipe for fudge and another for the best one in the other class.

Dozens of recipes should be submitted on every kind of candy from peanut brittle to fondant. Because of the universal interest in candy and because of the ever present sweet tooth in the make up of most people, the contest editor is planning on not less than 200 candy recipes. The interesting part about most of these recipes is that the majority of them will be more or less original with the sender because each fudge maker and candy concocter adds his own individual theory to his recipe.

Send them at once, for Candy week began at noon today. A few recipes for candy came in immediately after the first announcement of the week was made. Just a few more are wanted. On two or three occasions recipes have been sent in which were not signed with name and address. Post-office box or address alone is not sufficient and any recipes which are not signed with name and address will be disqualified. Considering that more than 600 recipes have been sent to the contest editor since the contests began, the unsigned recipes are an almost negligible number, but some which had to be discarded sounded so good!

Here are some pie recipes:

LEMON PIE
Grate the rind of two lemons, add to that 1½ cups white sugar, 2 heaping tablespoons unsifted flour or 1 of corn starch. Mix well together, then add yolks of three well beaten eggs. Beat these thoroughly then add juice of the lemons, 2 cups water, piece of butter size of walnut. Set this on fire in double boiler, cook till thickens. Then pour in pie tin with pastry that has already been baked—add whites of eggs, beaten with 3 tablespoons sugar. Spread this on top and return to oven until slightly browned.—Mrs. M. W. Pease, Seymour.

GOOD PIE CRUST
The secret of making good pie is to use as little water as possible to get the dough in shape. Put one cup of lard to 1 quart flour and a teaspoon salt. This should make four crusts, either two pies with covers or four without. Work the lard in the flour with your fingers until it is thoroughly mixed thru before adding the water, then only a little, and press the dough together hard and roll only one way. The under crust should be a little thicker. If it is a fruit pie dust a little flour on the bottom before putting your fruit in and in making pies of fresh fruit put your sugar in the bottom.—Mrs. Edward Herman, Route 3.

BUTTER SCOTCH PIE
Yolks of two eggs
1 cup brown sugar
1½ cups sweet milk
1 heaping tablespoon flour dissolved in a little milk.
1 teaspoon vanilla
Cook in double boiler until thick. Beat whites of eggs with 2 tablespoons sugar. Spread on top of pie. Set in oven till brown.—Mrs. M. W. Pease, Seymour.

PUMPKIN PIE WITHOUT EGGS
One quart properly stewed pumpkin. Add enough good rich milk to moisten it enough to fill two good sized earthen pie plates. 1 teaspoon salt, half cup sorghum or molasses, ½ tablespoon ginger, 1 small teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg. Bake in slow oven three quarters of an hour.—Mrs. M. W. Pease, Seymour.

BUTTER SCOTCH PIE
1 cup brown sugar, 1½ cup milk, yolks of 2 eggs, 1½ tablespoons butter, 1½ tablespoons flour. Cook in double boiler, add pinch of salt. Pour into the crust that has been previously baked on back of pie tin. Beat whites until light, sweeten with table-spoon granulated sugar. Place on top of pie and brown slightly in oven.—Alice Waters Jones, 722 Harris-st.

SWEET POTATO CUSTARD PIE
½ cup sweet potatoes, mashed, 1 cup white sugar, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon molasses (scant), 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon, 1½ teaspoon salt. Bake with 1 crust. Moderate oven.—Alice Waters Jones, 722 Harris-st.

APPLE PIE WITH QUINCE FLAVOR
Pare, slice and stew green or tart ripe apples. Mash when tender. Add tiny pinch of salt and sweeten with the best brown sugar. Flavor with vanilla. After filling pie pan dot with bits of butter before adding top crust. Bake in quick oven. The combined flavor is like quince.—Alice Waters Jones, 722 Harris-st.

EGGLESS PRUNE WHIP PIE
Contents of 1 envelope of gelatine. Soak in ½ cup cold water 15 minutes, add 4 cups boiling prune juice. When cold and just beginning to set whip to the consistency of well beaten egg whites. Add ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons vanilla. Then fold in 4 cups chopped prunes, fill pie shells and serve with whipped cream. This amount makes 3 pies.—Mrs. P. E. Ainsworth, 495 South-st.

ANGEL LEMON PIE
1 lemon
1 cup sugar
½ spoon salt
Yolks of three eggs
Whites of three eggs
Mix lemon rind and juice, ½ cup sugar, salt, egg yolks, in double boiler. Cook, stirring constantly until thick.

Debates will be held among the high schools until all but three teams are eliminated. These three teams will meet in Lawrence Memorial chapel in April or May for the championship.

The question for debate is "Resolved—That the reduction of national armaments to the status of adequate police forces within a period of ten years, is the best usable means to promote the peace of the world."

The two Appleton teams will meet Kaukauna high school teams at Kaukauna Feb. 11 in a practice debate. There will be no decision as the debate was arranged merely to give the teams practice.

BOB PUBLIC SPEAKING
An effort is being made at the school this year to revive interest and to develop public speaking among the pupils. Miss Ruth McKenna has charge of the public speaking department.

At the assembly period Wednesday morning the school orchestra under the direction of Herbert H. Heible, gave a concert. The orchestra this year is larger than any the high school ever had. It has 15 members.

POLICEWOMAN CAN BE 45 YEARS OLD

Police and Fire Board Makes New Regulations for Women Officers

Appleton police and fire commission set forth the required qualifications for a policewoman. This is aimed to hasten the appointment of such an officer under the recent ordinance passed by the common council.

The resolution set the age limits for a policewoman between 25 and 45 and waived requirements of weight and stature. The resolution was necessary because present police rules require all persons appointed to the force be between the ages of 25 and 40 and must weigh at least 160 pounds.

After the adoption of the resolution the secretary of the commission was authorized to ask Judge A. M. Spencer to recommend three qualified applicants for the position of policewoman in compliance with the law concerning the engagement of policewomen by a city of the second, third or fourth class. When Judge Spencer recommends three such applicants to the commission a policewoman will be appointed.

Before adjourning the commissioners considered new rules to govern the fire department under the recently instituted two-platoon system.

COUNCIL DEFERS SALARY MEETING UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Laab's Suggestion That Aldermen Have More Time Wins Approval

Salaries of all elective and appointive officers of the city of Appleton are to be fixed by the common council at a meeting to be held Wednesday night, Feb. 8. When the salary matter was laid before the council last night by E. L. Williams, city clerk, Alderman A. W. Laabs suggested that another meeting of the council be held next Wednesday night for the purpose of determining compensation. The motion carried unanimously.

In making the motion, Alderman Laabs said it had not been generally understood by members of the council that the compensation of city officers is to be determined in February and they have not had an opportunity to give the matter careful consideration. Other aldermen agreed with Mr. Laabs.

Why Not Own It? The Price Makes it Easy

Closed cars have cost too much for most buyers. The Essex open model sells at $1095, the five-passenger Coach is $1345.

It has open car performance, its speed, ability to negotiate rough country roads, its carrying capacity and its economy. It has its sturdiness and reliability. For all seasons, for all business and family uses it is ideal. And it has distinctive beauty.

It is the latest creation of Hudson Super-Six body engineers, men who set the style in many types of closed cars. Hudson also builds the Essex.

GUNSIGHT PASS

by WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVE SANDERS, accompanied by his pal, BOB HART, are in pursuit of AD MILLER, a gambler, and his confederate, George Doble. Dave believes that Miller and Doble have stolen his pet pony, Chiquito. Arriving at Malin, they meet JOYCE CRAWFORD, daughter of Emerson Crawford, the owner of the D Bar Lazy R ranch and Dave's employer. Joyce fears that her father has met with foul play from his enemy.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

He was at the head of a stairway which ran down to the first floor and lost itself in the darkness of the hall. He was sure that he heard low voices behind a closed door.

Never before had Dave noticed that stairs creaked and groaned so loudly beneath the pressure of a soft foot step. He did not hide the truth from himself. If Steelman or his men found him here looking for Crawford, he would never leave the house alive. His foot left the last tread and found the uncarpeted floor. As he moved forward his stomach muscles tightened. At any moment some one might come out of the room and walk into him.

He put his eyes to the keyhole. Ad Miller was sitting astraddle a chair, his elbows on the back. Another man, one not visible to the cowpuncher was announcing a decision and giving an order.

"Hook up the horses, Shorty. He's got his neck bowed and he won't sign. All right. I'll get the durn fool up in the hills and show him whether he will or won't."

The ranger grumbled an indistinct answer. Dave did not make out the words, and his interest in the conversation abruptly ceased.

For from upstairs there came the sudden sounds of tramping feet, of bodies thrashing to and fro in confusion. A revolver shot barked its sinister menace.

Dave rose to go. At the same time the door in front of him was jerked open. He pushed his forty-five into Miller's fat ribs.

"Stick up yore hands—stick 'em up!"

The boy was backing along the passage as he spoke. He reached a dead end at that second while Miller was being flung aside by an eruption of men from the room. Like a frightened rabbit Dave leaped for the stairs taking them three at a time. Halfway up he collided with a man flying down. They came together with the heavy impact of fast-moving bodies.

Sanders rose like a rubber ball. The other man lay still. Dave's head had struck him in the solar plexus and knocked the breath out of him. The young cowpuncher found himself the active center of a cyclone. His own revolver was gone. He grappled with a man, seizing him by the wrist to prevent the use of a long barreled Colt. The trigger fell, a bullet flying through the ceiling.

Dave clung close to the man he had seized, using him as a shield against the others. The pack swayed down the hall into the wedge of light thrown by the lamp in the room.

A jagged pain shot through his head. He stumbled and went down. Heavy boots kicked at him. It seemed to him that bolts of lightning were zigzagging through him.

The pain ceased and he floated away into a sea of space.

other faction. "You got the most nerve I ever did see."

"You'll drive," the cattleman repeated steadily.

The weak spot in Steelman's leadership was that he was personally not game.

"Oh, well, what's it matter? We can talk things over on the way. Me I'm not lookin' for trouble none," he said, his small black eyes moving restlessly to watch the effect of this on his men.

CHAPTER VIII

Joyce came flying to her father's arms. She threw herself at Crawford with a moaning little sob.

"Oh Dad . . . Dad . . . Dad!" she cried and her slender arms went round his neck.

"You're not hurt," she begged through her tears.

"Not none. Xaver was husker. But I got a boy out here that's beat up some. Come in, Dave—and you, Bob."

Dave was up and ready to say goodbye within forty-eight hours. He was still a bit under par, a trifle washed out, but he wanted to take the road in pursuit of Miller and Doble who had again decamped in a hurry with the two horses they had stolen.

"They had the bones hid up Frio Canon way, I reckon," explained Hart. "We're not liable to find them after they hole up in some mountain pocket."

"Might let's take a whirl at it anyhow," urged Dave.

devils. Don't take no chances with 'em. I left an order at store for you to draw on me for another pair of boots in place of those you lost in the brush, Dave. Get a good pair, son. They're on me."

Nashville — James Dunn's pride wouldn't allow him to be marched down the street wearing handcuffs.

So, when he was sentenced to a term of 5 to 15 years in the penitentiary after conviction for grand larceny, Dunn broke out of the Lake County Jail.

He boarded a train for Nashville, appeared at the state penitentiary and surrendered. The warden confirmed Dunn's story and the Lake county sheriff forwarded the necessary papers.

Now James Dunn started serving his time. And he's congratulating himself on having avoided the hated wristlets.

When Joyce was in the room where Dave lay on the lounge the young man never looked at her, but he saw nobody else.

What took him by the throat was her goodness. She was enshrined in his heart as a young saint. The sweetness of her affection for rough Em Crawford, the dear, maternal tenderness with which she ruled her three-year-old brother Keith, motherless since the week of his birth, the kindness of the luminous brown eyes to the uncouth stranger thrown upon her hospitality, Dave treasured them all as signs of angelic grace, and they played upon his heartstrings disturbingly.

Broadway Is Raving Over Batik For Spring Costumes

Artists Contrive Splendid Effects by Blending Colors and Use of Wax

By Hedda Hoyt

New York. — Among the materials and fabrics which are being shown for the smart Spring costumes we find the gorgeous "batik."

Few of us know, perhaps, the meaning of batik. And yet that camouflaging of white materials by the use of colored paints and wax, has been the dream work of dozens of American artists. No press or machinery can create designs of such exquisite colorings and shadings of colors.

Batik has its origin on the Isle of Java, where native artists discovered the beauty of hand painted designs on white linen cloth. American artists saw the possibility of utilizing this art on crepe de chene, velvets and chiffons and found amazing results.

With the introduction of this art in America, we saw negligees like spun gold reflecting brilliant Autumn tones; blues fading into lavenders and into deeper tones that are as nameless as the colorings of a desert sunset. The batik artist strives to sell his work by personal order rather than by the wholesale route. He feels that he must work something of the personality of the wearer into the gown. Each person suggests to him a different blending of color and certainly colors can express moods, personalities. Grey for instance, suggests tranquility simplicity; lavender, quaintness; rose cheerfulness; black, poise; etc. Today every lovely woman has in fact a blending of all of these qualities. Thus the artist's logic of the costume of batik.

For a brunette, what could be more exotic than a gown beginning at the neck line with a pale yellow, fading imperceptibly into gold, then into dull orange which ends at the hem in a deep, ruddy brown, the whole gown crackled by means of wax to simulate the fabrics of ancient origin and having an indistinct design throughout?

Several wholesale blouse and gown houses now employ their own batik artists. Most of these are more timid in their use of colorings than the artist whose sole aim is to satisfy his soul rather than his appetite. Those of us who feel this same timidity in the usage of batiks for street wear will surely satisfy our desire for them in the sanctity of our boudoirs.

One of the most charming three piece costumes seen on Fifth Ave. this season was made of French blue duvetyn with a three-quarter length cape manteau. The border of the cape and of the bottom of the skirt was of grey fox about eight inches wide. A silver chain held the cape flat at the front waist line and a huge bunch of purple violets completed the effect. The turban worn with costume was very Russian in its high severity of line and did its best to conceal the little bobbed locks of the young matron who wore it.

"Wide sleeves of Russian and Persian designs continue to reign supreme in the sleeve world. Occasionally they are caught in at the wrist by a narrow band, but always they are flaring. For afternoon and evening wear the gowns often are sleeveless.

BELIEVE IN MIRACLES? SHE SAYS ONE SAVED HER LIFE

MARY MOORE

By Alexander Herman

New York. — Do you believe in miracles?

Mary Moore does. She was one of the first patients in New York of Dr. Adolph Lorenz, noted Vienna surgeon. Two months ago she was in an auto accident. Her skull was fractured in two places — her spine, in three. She was unconscious for 28 days.

Yet today—

She is walking around bearing no mark of her close call.

"I want to get back to work," she tells Dr. A. J. Barker Savage, superintendent of the Broad Street Hospital. "It's my busy season now."

"But I suppose I oughtn't to complain. I would have been a dead one, if it weren't for Dr. Lorenz, and Dr. Morris, and Dr. Dieffenbach, and—"

"The physician stopped her.

"She is the luckiest girl I know," he said. "I have handled emergency cases for many years. But I have never seen a more wonderful recovery."

Miss Moore is a young actress. She had played some important parts. But her biggest chance was coming. William Faversham had engaged her to be his leading lady.

She got her lines and started to learn them. Her sister drove her to the country where it was quiet.

Then the auto accident.

For three days she lay in a friend's house at Long Island. Then she was removed to the hospital.

"With his marvelous hands," Miss James Moore, mother of the girl, explained, "Dr. Lorenz placed Mary in a plaster cast. He used one of his famous spints."

"After 18 days it was removed."

"A few days later Mary could turn her head."

Heavy Covers Are Annoying To Invalids

Perhaps it's the light that keeps you awake," suggested the woman, hoping that it was not the light, because of the comfort it was to sit across the room in its ray and knit and rejoice in her heart because her husband was getting better.

"It's not the light. I'm just cantankerous, I guess," said the man.

The woman going back to her chair in the shaded lamp light, could not possibly know that the reason her husband was weary and restless was that the weight of clothes on his bed was wearying him.

The doctor had said to keep him warm. She was doing her best, with extra blankets and the best pink comforter and some hot irons in the bed as well.

And then came the man who made a point of dropping in each night for a brief visit. He tiptoed into the room a bit awkwardly, gripping the sick man by the hand as he sat down beside the bed.

And almost as if he sensed the sick man's discomfort, he said, presently: "Looks to me, as if you had a heap of clothes over you, old man."

"To which the sick man assented, adding that he was as nervous as a cat and couldn't lie still, much less go to sleep."

"What you want is a cradle in the bed to raise the weight of those blankets off your feet. I know. I've been there. A box will do splendidly. Just knock the ends out, you know."

Certainly it sounded as if the visitor was out of his mind, murmuring about knocking the ends out of boxes when there were no boxes in sight. But a genial rummaging in the attic and then in the basement, revealed a medium sized apple box, from which the man removed the nails and then the ends. Returning, he placed this in his friend's bed lengthwise, under the top sheet. The sick man's feet were beneath the improvised bed cradle, and the entire weight of the bed clothes rested upon the box.

It was a remarkable fact that almost at once the "twitchiness" and restlessness disappeared. And very soon the man slept so quietly that his friend tiptoed from the room.

Household Hints

LESS SUGAR

If raisins or dates are cooked in rice pudding or bread pudding, much less sugar will be required.

HANGING SHEETS

In hanging sheets shake them well while still wet, and hang with the hems together and the hem edge pinned to the line. This prevents whipping the corners and lessens the wear and tear as the sheet will need less pulling.

WEDDING CAKE

There is a tendency to increase the size of the wedding cake, cake specialists say. The tiers have become higher and the floral decoration is on much larger scale.

GREASE

Don't ever pour hot grease down the sink drain. As soon as it strikes the cold pipes it will thicken and stop them up.

LETTERS TO LOVERS Justice In Love

By Winona Wilcox

HE modern American girl has been dubbed "an enamored metal lady." Perhaps her beauty does conceal some hardness but sometimes this metallic luster only indicates the existence of a shield by which she protects a too tender heart from the hurt of loving.

The sinner of her sex, instead of getting behind the defense, are lately demanding a new justice in love.

One of this type writes:

"When I was first engaged, I was marvellously happy.

"A year later when we were planning our home, I noticed that the man who had voluntarily promised never to love any woman but me was growing indifferent and neglectful. I became suspicious.

"Is there another girl?" I asked.

"He admitted that there was."

"And you love her better than me?"

"Yes," he replied. "Please believe that I am sorry. I did not mean to hurt you! But you will get over it!"

"We parted. I have not seen him for five months. Time passes, but I do not get over it. I think more and more of him, he thinks less and less of me.

"And it isn't fair! He was cruel to smash all of my plans for my future without warning. I had known him for three years and from the beginning I had been interested in no other man. He knew this and yet he could say that I would get over loving him!

"With that for his excuse, he picks up the thread of a new romance while all the interests of my life are smothered short. It is like a sudden death by accident.

"And he doesn't even perceive that I have been wronged!

"I think men ought to be taught the truth about how good girls love."

"He whom I love now, as I did three years ago, expected me to forget as easily as he could forget."

"And so I say that many young men need a new education in the nature of women."

And perhaps girls ought to know more about the nature of men. For instance the man described above was perfectly just, in his own way. He knew that it was far kinder to leave this girl than to wed her when his heart had wandered from her."

The girl should congratulate herself that the tragedy occurred before instead of after marriage. She was spared a good deal—in spite of the three wasted years.

The Invalid's Tray

WHEN there is an invalid in the house, nourishing drinks mean much to him or her. Very often solid is not acceptable and the beverage must be food as well as drink.

These recipes may suggest others to you.

ALBUMENIZED ORANGE JUICE

One orange, 1 lemon, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 eggs (whites), crushed ice. Squeeze juice from orange and lemon and strain. Make a hole in one end of the egg shell and shake the white out, clipping it with a pair of scissors to break the invisible membrane and prevent stringiness. Put all ingredients in a shaker and shake vigorously until foamy. A few bits of ice should be shaken with the egg whites and juice. Pour over crushed ice and add enough cold water to fill the glass.

If a shaker is not at hand put the ingredients in a bowl and beat slightly with a Dover beater.

EGG NOG

One egg, 1 tablespoon sugar, few grains salt, 2-3 cup milk, nutmeg. Beat white of egg till dry and stiff, beating in the sugar. When the white is stiff beat in the yolk. Add salt and beat in the milk. The milk should be very cold. Pour into a glass with a lump of ice, sprinkle liberally with nutmeg and serve.

HOT EGG DRINK

One egg, 1 1/2 cups milk, few grains salt, 2 teaspoons sugar if desired. Beat egg with the Dover beater till very light. Heat milk, but do not let boil. Beat into egg, season with salt and add sugar. Serve at once very hot. In cases of extreme exhaustion this drink may be used as a stimulant.

EGG LEMONADE

One egg, 1 lemon, 2 tablespoons sugar, cold water. Beat egg well with sugar. Squeeze juice from lemon and strain into egg. Beat slightly and pour over crushed ice in glass. Fill with cold water.

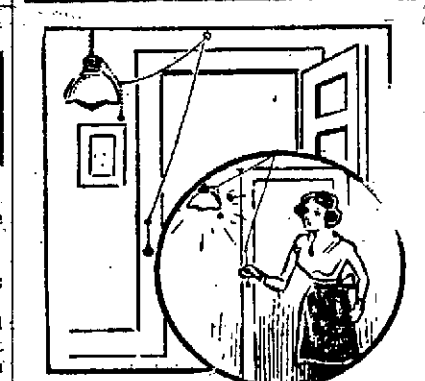

BEEF TEA WITH EGG

One-half cup beef juice, 1 egg yolk, salt, pepper if allowed. If beef juice is not at hand dilute beef extract in the proper proportions to make 1/2 cup. Beat the yolk in the cup the tea is to be served in. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Heat the tea but do not allow it to boil. Pour over egg, stirring briskly. Serve immediately. If the diet will permit serve thin stripes of dry toast with the tea.

Never serve any kind of fruit juice without straining. Plain orange juice should be carefully strained before sipping to an invalid.

SPARE TIME JOBS FOR FATHER

When the kitchen, or the bathroom lights are in the center of the room it is often hard to find the hanging chain in the dark.

Make it easier by running a string from the light chain across the ceiling and down the wall by the door. Run the string through small ring-head screws and put a small weight on the end of the string.

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 27—Thumbs Down

BY ZOE BECKLEY

"Paul, my dearest, where have you been? It's nearly 7. I was frantic for fear something had happened to you."

"Gee-whiz, girl, I am a pig. But I've been over my head in a business session all afternoon. What you been doing, I say?"

Polly related her day's activities but her spirit lagged.

"Come, dear, I've news that'll cheer you. A big business man here wants me to outfit his factory with furnaces. I've learned from experience that you can't put deals over in France the same way you can at home.

"Over here you write a long letter all full of greetings and compliments of the season, and then you wait a month or two. Then he answers, inquiring how your family is, and whether your ancestors preferred cheese or boiled apricots, and hoping you are enjoying the weather. Finally he comes round to the real business and tells you to call two weeks from next Wednesday at 5.

"And after you've gone all over it again, you take him out to dinner, invite him to go automobiling, send the baby a present and get your wife to tell him what a bird of a dancer he is—

"Which brings me to the point, Polly darling, I want you to dress in your prettiest next Thursday night and do the snappy social stuff. We're going to take him out to dine—some little place he knows where you get grand eats — and you're going to put over the big deal."

"I don't understand, Paul. What have I got to do with it?"

"I've just told you. I really mean it. You have to mix up social and business things over here if you want to put it over."

"You never used to suggest such methods. You always sold your heaters and things without mixing into it. I don't quite like to—"

Polly felt stung and mystified. She

The Mushroom's Message

The Magical Mushroom looked up at the lovely, russet-yellow leaves of the old chestnut tree over their head. "Quite lovely work Jack Frost has done here, children, don't you think?"

"Oh, yes, and look over in the woods," pointed Nick.

"Well, well, well!" nodded the Mushroom. "It is grand, isn't it? Let's see! There's the old sugar-maple all dressed up in rich red. And the soft-maple is a bright, bright orange. Mr. Beech Tree is quite purple and the dog-wood with its million red berries and all its red leaves looks like heart's blood. Old Mr. Oak is still green, but Jack Frost has already begun on the tips of his leaves, and Mr. Cedar and Mr. Pine have just had a fresh coat of dark shiny green paint. And look at the lovely gray of the willows! Yes, Jack Frost is not only useful about sweetening the grapes and pumpkins for Thanksgiving, and shaking down nut for our winter store but he's an artist. What a pity that he can't help Mr. Pim Pim!"

It was out at last! The thing that the old fairy had come to tell the children.

"Pim Pim! Mr. Pim Pim!" repeated Nancy. "Who's he? And why should Jack Frost help him?"

"Mr. Pim Pim is Prince of the Brownies," answered the Mushroom, "and he's in trouble. The Fairy Queen told him that it was time to gather up all colors he could for Santa to put on the Christmas tree toys, and the gnomes found out all about it. They are so mischievous that they will do all they can to stop him."

"Can't we help?" asked Nick eagerly.

"If we only had the Magical Green Shoes!" said Nancy.

"Well, then," smiled the Mushroom. "Here they are, kiddies."

MAHMOUT WRESTLES HILL HERE NEXT THURSDAY

TERRIBLE TURK AGREES TO TERMS TO WRESTLE HERE

Mahmout Will Wrestle Zbyszko for Championship in Kansas City Feb. 14

Tussif Mahmout, the "Terrible Turk" who wrestles Stanislaus Zbyszko for the wrestling championship of the world in Kansas City, Feb. 14, will meet George Hill in Armory G Thursday night, Feb. 8, it was announced this morning by Elmer Johnson, promoter for the Mid-West Athletic club. Negotiations for bringing the noted wrestler here were completed Wednesday night.

Mahmout won one fall from Hill last spring in two hours of wrestling. He took the fall in slightly more than an hour and the two grapplers went the remainder of the distance on even terms. The Turk has not lost a match since his return from Europe nearly two years ago and many followers of the game believe he will be able to take the measure of the giant Zbyszko.

This big battle will attract about as much attention as the match with the champion a few weeks ago. Mahmout is one of the wonders of the world. He is grey haired but in spite of his age is as fast as ever and is gaining in cleverness every day.

He has had some difficulty in obtaining matches because the big fellows like to keep away from him. Emil Klank, his manager, however, was not very eager to meet Hill so close to the Zbyszko match and tried to send another man here but finally agreed to put the Turk on the mat.

When Hill lost his fall to the Turk he had been out of training for about two weeks and was far from his usual condition. He will be in the very best of shape next Thursday and it is certain the Turk will know there has been a battle when the final gong rings.

Struggle Goes Into Two Extra Periods Before Winner is Decided

In a battle that went into two extra periods before the winner was decided the Appleton high school basketball team defeated the Y. M. C. A. team, 23 to 20, Tuesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The game was on the regular schedule of Class A of the Industrial-Commercial league.

BIG BABE EXPECTS BIG BOOST IN PAY

Yankee Slugger Hasn't Signed His New Contract With His Bosses

By United Press Lensed Wire New York—Some of these days Babe Ruth will saunter into the Tank office with "Well, what d'you say?"

When it comes to giving an answer, there probably isn't a club owner in either league outside of New York that would care to swap shoes with the Yankee Colonels.

Babe is due for a new contract with new terms. He's been working for $20,000 a year but he wasn't so good when he signed the parchment three years ago.

Those who like to speculate about "inside matters" predict that the American league champions will have to go all the way from $50,000 to $75,000 to get the swat king on a long contract.

Both the Giants and the Yanks may have some little negotiating getting their regulars on new contracts. The champion clubs of both leagues are receiving signed contracts in every mail but the names of the regulars are not conspicuous while the rookies are making a dash to get in and clinch a chance for what many think will be another slice of the championship spoils.

No bad cases of "holditis" are expected by any of the major league clubs since Commissioner Landis issued the decree that holding out would be regarded as an offense serious enough for a penalty of being placed on the ineligible list.

MENASHA BOWLERS HAVE HIGH MARKS

Menasha bowlers continue to hold their places with the leaders in the state bowling tournament being held in Madison.

The Menasha alleys five-man team is leading in the team event with a total of 2,756 pins. The McCoy Nolan Co. team of Milwaukee, second in team standing, is 65 pins behind the Menasha maple busters, with 2,691 pins.

E. Ostertag of Menasha ranks third in the singles event with 642 pins. P. Ostertag of Menasha is fourth in the all events with 1,761 pins and H. Gossett of Menasha is fifth in the all events with 1,748 pins.

The Fred-C. Deleuw doubles team of Kimberly is fourth in the doubles event with a total of 1,171 pins.

Today's Sport Angle

Basketball is a strenuous sport. If not played to excess it is a most healthful exercise.

However, it can be easily overdone and immediately becomes injurious rather than beneficial.

Too many basketball games played in a week or in a year have a detrimental effect on the physique of an athlete.

The big mistake in basketball as a sport comes in early youth. Most of the high schools and amateur teams play a schedule that is entirely too long.

A great many of the high schools start the basketball season about Nov. 1, and do not end it until around the first of April.

During a recent meeting of prominent western coaches, figures compiled by freshman medical examiners, showed that a great many of the

Central Wisconsin Basketball League Quintets Clash in Armory G

With the strongest team it has had on the floor this season and every man on the squad in shape for a hard battle the Appleton quintet of the Central Wisconsin basketball league will swing into action again Thursday night when George Dame sends his cagers against the Green Bay aggregation in Armory G. The teams will fight out for the leadership of the second division in the league pennant race. If Appleton is able to slip over a victory the local five will move into fourth position in the percentage column and Green Bay will drop into fifth place.

Welhart, a member of the noted Kiel team which defeated the Milwaukee Bright Spots a few weeks ago, will jump center for the local squad. He is one of the best pivot men in the middle west.

The Appleton tossers are ready for a bitter struggle. According to word received here, the Green Bay club has been strengthened for Thursday night's game. Dame's athletes have put in some hard licks at practice this week and are prepared for anything Green Bay has to offer.

The Appleton team will lineup as follows: Chappelle and Loose, forwards; Welhart, center; Ellinger and Anderson, guards. The Green Bay lineup has not been announced.

Two curtain raisers have been arranged for Thursday night's program. Two boy scout troop teams will clash in the first contest, scheduled to get underway at 7:15 o'clock. The Kimberly-Clark quintet will meet the Lawrence freshmen in the second game.

The Appleton-Green Bay battle will get underway at about 8:30. Coach McChesney of Lawrence will referee.

QUERY DAY

By Kelly Evans

If a batsman is hit by a pitched ball, which in the opinion of the umpire, would have passed over the plate, what is the proper ruling?

In order to be hit by a pitched ball which would have passed over the plate, the batsman must have intentionally got in the way of the ball.

On such a play the umpire should rule the delivery a strike. If any runners were on the bases at the time, he should send them back to their original bases, if they advanced on the pitch.

ST. PAUL TEAM PLAYS FONDY HERE FRIDAY

St. Paul Lutherans will battle last year's Fox River Valley Lutheran Basketball league champions when St. Peter five of Fond du Lac comes here for a game at 8:15 Friday evening in high school gymnasium. Fondy is bringing a large number of rooters, a letter to Herbert Voeks, president of the league says.

The Appleton lineup will include Gander, center; W. Rehbein and Ries, forwards; Sherman and Voeks, guards.

A reception for the visitors will be held after the game in St. Paul school hall, with members of the Young Peoples society in charge.

DREXLER AND LA FOND WIN BILLIARD MATCH

Drexler and LaFond defeated Versteegen and Brown in a billiard match, 100 to 83, before a big crowd in the Carr and Hanson billiard hall Wednesday night. This match was one of a series to determine the city championship.

Joe Judge, first baseman of the Washington club, says he hasn't yet recovered from the report that he was to be traded to Philadelphia. He is enthusiastic over the addition of Roger Peckinpaugh and says the Nationals are certain to be a strong pennant contender.

INTERLAKES FIVE MEETS WISCONSIN ARROWS SATURDAY

Fast Basketball Quintets Are Scheduled to Clash on Armory G Floor

Coming with the reputation of being one of the fastest independent basketball aggregations in the state the Wisconsin Arrows of Fond du Lac will meet the Interlake quintet Saturday night in Armory G, Appleton. The Arrows have won a majority of their games this season and the team is composed of speedy basketballers. Among the men in the Fond du Lac lineup well known to Appleton fans are Rice, former Lawrence star, and Murray and Zidelinski.

Realizing they are going up against stiff competition in the game Saturday the Interlakes are putting in some hard licks at practice this week and expect to be in fine form for the clash with the Arrows. Tuesday night the Interlakes met the Twelve Corners five in a practice game and won by a score of 47 to 25. The Interlakes took the lead soon after the start of the game and were never headed during the battle.

Day and Hulbert were the principal scorers for the Interlakes and Mextoxen hung up the most counters for Twelve Corners.

Manager Gregory has not picked his team for the struggle with the Arrows but the following players are expected to break into the lineup: Day, Bates, Dunn and Hunt, forwards; Gregory and Rushton, centers; Kessie, Gardner and Willy, guards.

The Interlakes-Arrows battle will get underway at 8 o'clock. A curtain raiser between Lawrence freshmen and sophomores will start at 7:15.

CARROLL CLASH IS CALLED OFF

Scarlet Fever in Waukesha Keeps Lawrence Five at Home This Week

Because of an epidemic of scarlet fever in Waukesha the Lawrence-Carroll basketball game scheduled to be played in that city Friday night has been postponed. The game will be played at a later date.

Coach McChesney will drill his men hard this week and next for the clash with Beloit in Beloit Feb. 10. The Blue and White gave the state line team a tough battle here last week but the Beloit five won by a margin of one point. Coach McChesney believes his quintet will even up the count when the two teams clash on the Beloit floor.

SAYS ALL TAINTED WITH SAME COLOR

Taylorville, Ill. — Grover Hoover, coach of the Taylorville professional football team in the famous game at Carlinville, Nov. 27, Thursday made sweeping charges of professionalism against prominent big ten conference athletes.

He charged in a series of questions to coaches and athletic directors that Gordon Locke, fullback, and Aubrey Devine, quarterback, all-American football stars of the Iowa team, played pro baseball; that Illinois athletes played professional baseball against them; that Wisconsin football stars are professional ball players; that Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach knew two days after the Taylorville-Carlinville game that his men had played; that Michigan and Ohio State has professional stars.

ENTRIES CLOSE SUNDAY NIGHT

Work of Making Schedule for Elk's Bowling Meet to be Started Monday

Entries for the tenth annual bowling tournament for Elks which is to be held on Elks alleys here beginning Feb. 18, must be in by midnight Sunday. The work of arranging a schedule will be started Monday. Teams from out of town will probably ask that they be scheduled to go on the drives on Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. As far as possible these requests will be granted and the Appleton bowlers will fill in on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Entries for 238 five-man teams were received up until Wednesday night. Every mail until Sunday will bring more entries and it is expected that more than 300 teams from out of town will sign up for the tournament. Appleton will be represented by 50 or more teams.

The drives in Elks home will be put in first class shape for the meet. Preparations are being made to arrange for 24 teams to roll during each day of the tournament.

Unless Cleveland acquires a good pitcher by medium of trade or purchase, the Indians are going to have a hard time staying up in the pennant race, so say the experts. Coveleskie is regarded as the only consistent pitcher on the Cleveland staff, with Uhle a possibility.

WINTER RETURNS IN WAKE OF GALE

Groundhog Predicts an Early Spring But Coalman Remains Optimistic

Riding in the wake of a high wind which blew over signboards, and broke in glass doors and windows, Old Man Winter returned to Appleton for a short stay. The Groundhog however, has predicted that spring is close at hand. Kids and Old Timers declare that the Groundhog was unable to see his shadow when he crawled out of his hole at an early hour this morning and as a consequence spring is only a few weeks away.

Less sentimental citizens of this region, however, are negotiating with the coalman for a few more tons of black gold in case the groundhog is crossed by the weatherman. They figure just one sunless day doesn't make a spring.

The weatherman promises a continuation of the miniature blizzard for another day at least. His prediction is snow flurries and high wind for the next 24 hours.

A big signboard on Mason-st. was toppled over by the wind during the night. A few glass doors and windows were broken in and there was other minor damage.

A gust of wind Wednesday afternoon caught one of the small outer doors of the Kroger building and knocked it with such force that the heavy glass broke. The sound was so much like the bark of a gun that it sent pedestrians in the direction of the sound to witness a possible shooting affray.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The aid dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rann Kennedy Present "The Servant in the House"

Appearing in one of Mr. Kennedy's most famous plays, "The Servant in the House," Charles Rann Kennedy and his wife, the famous Edith Wynne Matthison will give a program in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 8:20 Thursday evening. Their number is one of the Community Lecture and Artist series.

While Mr. Kennedy has a wide reputation as a writer and actor, Mrs. Kennedy is said to be one of the best interpreters of Shakespeare's women and of roles in Greek and classical literature. She was Sir Henry Irving's last leading lady, playing a notable Portia to his Shylock. She played Rosamund to his Becket on the night when the great actor died.

Demand for single admissions for this number has been great from out of town. Both the artists are well known in joint recital and in separate programs.

Retains Its Quarters

The sale of the two buildings at 586 and 594 College-ave. owned by Robert Stammer and W. J. Butler, one of which is occupied by the Badger Decorating Co., will have no effect on that company which will continue to occupy its present quarters indefinitely. The new owners, it is understood, intend to replace the building occupied by William Elser's barbershop with a modern structure.

MOTHER!

Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.
